CIA Chapter of Eta Sigma Delta Honor Society Raises Money for The Astor Home for Children

The Eta Sigma Delta Honor Society of the Culinary Institute of America presented The Astor Home for Children with $1,186.05 in donations raised during its first BBQ Cook-Off and Ice Cream Freeze Off held at the Culinary Institute of America on June 9th.

Grace Glahn, Vice President of Eta Sigma Delta chapter at the Culinary Institute, and member Patrick Kenny, personally presented Astor's Executive Director Dr. James McGuirk with a check during their visit to The Astor Home in Rhinebeck on June 21st.

Ms. Glahn says the society conducts events that not only encourage student involvement, but also to benefit the area's non-profit organizations. The Eta Sigma Delta Honor Society chose Astor as the beneficiary of their first BBQ Cook-Off and Ice Cream Freeze Off fundraising event.

"We are honored to receive this donation and are thankful to The Eta Sigma Delta Honor Society for all the hard work they put into the BBQ Cook-Off and Ice Cream Freeze Off event, on our behalf," says Dr. McGuirk.

During the event, thirteen student teams competed for 3 different prizes in either the BBQ or Ice Cream specialty. The student body, faculty and the public were invited to attend and to sample the contestants' cuisine. Eta Sigma Delta hopes to make the contest an annual Culinary event.
